Dear Russ:

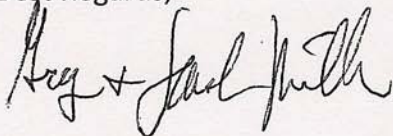

How LUCKy we are to be working with you on our family financial strategy! It feels wonderful to have a system in place where we are able to enjoy the Liquidity, Use and Control of our financial resources, and also to be armed with the Knowledge to understand and be engaged in the motion of our wealth.

You have taught us a great deal about true economic principles and the importance of having a solid structure in place. The Protection – Savings – Growth model gives us real confidence in this structure and we are looking forward to watching the flow of money through it as our strategy develops and grows.

It is obvious that we're excited about the strategy we have developed with you because we actually can't wait to make our policy payments and are always thinking of ways we can maximize the flow of money into the system! Who knew that making life insurance payments could be such a source of power?

Russ, thank you for your time, patience and care that have gone into helping open our eyes to a world where we can both enjoy our wealth and pass it on. With Baby Miller coming soon, that is a wonderful world to be in!

Best Regards,
